Preface

Oswal's General English is the latest addition to our series of books catering for Competitive Exams. As the name suggests, this edition focuses on the General English section which has become a fixed feature of all types of all entrance exams. This book includes topics from basic grammar to advanced vocabulary, and everything in between, that is recurrently asked in the exams. Keeping in mind the simplicity of the content, the book has been classified into four sections:

1. Basic Grammar : This section includes all those topics which form the key framework of English language understanding. It contains scores of rules, examples and exercises to help the learners grasp the topics in one go.
2. Vocabulary : Next to the fundamentals of English language, there is a section dedicated to vocabulary enhancement. The knowledge of this section is widely tested in the entrance exams nowadays. It also helps in creating smart writeups or during interviews or group discussions. Students are advised to keep revising and practicing all the new words/phrases they learn in this section.
3. Grammar in Practice : This section covers advanced topics like transformation and synthesis of sentences that require prior knowledge of the basics of grammar.
4. Punctuation and spellings : Practice of punctuation and spellings is often overlooked during English language learning. Nevertheless, they are crucial to gain mastery over the subject. A single mistake in punctuation or spelling can change the entire meaning of a sentence. Thus, this section covers all the important rules needed for flawless English writing.

Towards the end of the book, there is a collection of previous year questions and mock test papers which will help the learners in assessing their preparation and knowledge level.

In all, this book has been designed to be a self-sufficient learning resource for the students of today.

In case of any grievances, the readers are welcome to communicate the publishers about the same.

They will surely be taken care of in future editions.

MANAGE YOUR ENERGY, NOT JUST YOUR TIME

Studies are getting more and more demanding, amidst the mounting pressure to juggle extra-curricular activities. In an attempt to comply, most of you might have tried the usual method of putting in extra hours, only to end up being utterly exhausted and disengaged in the process.

Prolonged hours of study do not yield proportional results, as time is a limited resource. Your personal energy, on the other hand, is a renewable resource. Following are some easy yet effective habits that can help you energise yourself and build physical, emotional and mental resilience.

Physical Energy

- Enhance your sleep by setting an earlier bedtime.
- Engage in sports daily to keep stress at bay.
- Eat 4-6 small meals and light snacks in a day.
- Learn to notice signs of imminent energy flagging, including restlessness, yawning, hunger, and difficulty concentrating.
- Take a 5 minutes' break from your desk after every 2 hours of study session.

Emotional Energy

- Defuse negative emotions— irritability, impatience, anxiety, insecurity— through deep abdominal breathing.
- Try to look at challenging situations through new lenses. Ask yourself, 'how can I grow into a better person by overcoming this situation? What can I learn from this experience?'

Mental Energy

- Reduce interruptions by performing high-concentration tasks away from phone and other gadgets.
- Use your phone only for a short and fixed timespan in a day.
- Every night, identify the most important task for the next day and make it a point to achieve it.

Spiritual Energy

- Allocate time and energy to what you consider most important during the day.
- Live your core values. For example, if consideration is important to you but you are perpetually falling short of time while completing your syllabus, practice intentionally adding one more chapter to your revision time.

(Schwartz, T. and McCarthy, C., 2007)

Tenses show us the time of a verb's action or being. Students, the word 'tense' basically means 'time' and a verb shows us the time of an action, an activity or an event.

Verbs indicate two important things:

I. The time of the action (Tense) : present, past or future. For example,

- He drives a new car. — The verb drives refers to the present time of an action.
- He drove a new car. — The verb drove refers to past time of an action.
- He will drive a new car. — The verb will drive refers to the future time of an action.

From the above sentences, it's clear that there are three main tenses:

- (a) present tense
- (b) past tense
- (c) future tense

II. The kind of action (Function of tenses) - single, repeated, continuous, completed or incomplete. For example,

- It rains a lot in Delhi. (Present tense, habitual function)
- It is raining in Delhi. (Present continuous, progressive function)
- It has just rained in Delhi. (Present perfect, preceding function)
- It has been raining in Delhi for some time. (Present perfect continuous, time expression)

THE TENSES AND THEIR FUNCTIONS

I. Simple Present Tense or Present Indefinite Tense

The simple present tense is used:

1. To express a habitual action. For example,

- He drinks milk every day.
- I always get up at 5 am.
- I never sleep late.

For present tense habitual activities, we can use the following time expressions (Table 1.1):

all the time	every month	often
always	every semester	rarely
every class	every week	sometimes
every day	every year	usually
every holiday	most of the time
every hour	never

2. To state general truths or facts. For example,

- The sun rises in the east.
- Plants give us oxygen.
- Time passes quickly.

3. To state or say something you know about a person or a thing. For example,

- Surya is a teacher.
- Myna has two sisters.
- Water is necessary for life.

4. To state or say something about fixed future-programs and plans. For example,

- My father retires next year.
- The bus departs in ten minutes.
- The match starts at 10 o'clock.

5. To report events in newspapers and to give sports commentaries. For example,

- The Prime Minister leaves for the USA.
- The hockey team wins by 10 goals.
- Kohli hits the ball for a six.

Exercise 1

Directions : Complete the sentences using the suitable forms of the verbs given in the brackets.

1. He _____ tea at breakfast. (drink)
2. She only _____ vegetables. (eat)
3. They _____ television regularly. (watch)
4. We _____ the bus every morning. (catch)
5. It _____ every afternoon in the hot season. (rains)
6. They _____ to Manali every summer. (drive)
7. Water _____ at zero degrees. (freeze)
8. Her mother _____ Marathi. (be)

Answers

1. drinks
2. eats
3. watch
4. catch
5. rains
6. drive
7. freezes
8. is
9. arrives
10. starts

II. Present Continuous Tense (Progressive Action)

The present continuous tense is used :

1. For an action going on in the present at the time of speaking. For example,
 - She is dancing. (presently)
 - The team is celebrating their victory.
 - The boys are singing the national anthem.

2. For an action which is temporary and may not be happening at the time of speaking.

For example,

- I am reading 'Oliver Twist'. (I am not reading at this moment).
 - A new flyover is being constructed to the bus stand.
 - Are you listening to my story?
3. For an action that has been arranged to take place in the near future. For example,
 - My Uncle is arriving tonight.
 - I am going for a holiday next week.
 - We are going for a picnic tomorrow.

4. For an action that is done repeatedly and needs to be emphasised, we can use words like always, constantly, continually, or forever. For example,

- They are constantly fighting.
- The boys are always running on the road.
- He is forever including me in his plans.

5. Some verbs, because of their meaning, are not used in the continuous or progressive forms. For example,

- Verbs of perception : see, hear, smell, notice, recognise
- Verbs of appearance : appear, look, seem
- Verbs of emotion : want, wish, desire, feel, like, love, hate, hope, refuse, prefer
- Verbs of thinking : think, suppose, believe, feel, like, love, hate, love, refuse, prefer, forget, know, understand, imagine, mean, mind.
- Verbs of possession : own, possess, belong to, contain, consist of, be.

III. Present Perfect Tense

The present perfect tense is used:

1. For actions started in the past and continuing in the present. For example,
 - They haven't lived here for years.
 - She has worked in the bank for five years.
 - We have had the same car for ten years.
 - Have you played the piano since you were a child?
2. When the time-period referred to, has not finished. For example,
 - I have worked hard this week.
 - It has rained a lot this year.
 - We haven't seen her today.
3. Actions repeated in an unspecified period between the past and now. For example,
 - They have seen that film six times
 - It has happened several times already.
 - She has visited them frequently.
 - We have eaten at that restaurant many times.
4. Actions completed in the very recent past (+just). For example,
 - Have you just finished work?
 - I have just eaten.
 - We have just seen her.
 - Has he just left?

5. When the exact time of the action is not important or not known. For example,
- Someone has eaten my soup!
 - Have you seen 'Mother India'?*
 - She's studied German, Spanish and English.*

Table 1.2

The Following table shows the usage of present perfect tense in various forms.

- I _____ the table. (lay)

Answers

- have handed
- have deserted
- have received
- have lived
- has won
- have eaten
- have killed
- have arrested
- has done
- have laid

IV. Simple Past or Past Indefinite Tense (Habitual Action)

The simple past tense is used:

- To talk about a completed action in a time before now. The simple past is the basic form of past tense. The time of the action can be in the recent past or the distant past and action duration is not important. For example,

- Columbus sailed to America in 1492.
- Her mother died last year.
- He lived in Mumbai in 1976.
- We crossed the river yesterday.
- The boys danced on the school ground.

- To say when something happened in the past, so it is associated with certain past time expressions.

⇒ Frequency : often, sometimes, always.

- I sometimes walked home at lunchtime.
- I often brought my lunch to school.

⇒ A definite point in time : last week, when I was a child, yesterday, six weeks ago.

- We saw a good movie last week.
- Yesterday*, I arrived in Gujarat.
- She finished her work at eight o'clock
- I went to the temple last night.

⇒ An indefinite point in time : the other day, ages ago, a long time ago.

- People lived in caves a long time ago.
- She played the piano when she was a child.

Note : The word ago is a useful way of expressing the distance into the past. It is placed after the period of time: a week ago, three years ago, a minute ago.

Exercise 4

Directions : Complete the sentences using the Simple Past tense with the suitable forms of the verbs given in the brackets.

- They all _____ shopping. (go)
- I never _____ I would see you here. (think)
- We _____ tickets for the show. (book)
- She _____ her children from school. (pick)
- Were you _____ of the dark when you were young? (frighten)
- Who _____ my food? (eat)
- I _____ so tired that I went straight to bed. (feel)
- We _____ this plant from a seed. (grow)
- She _____ her way home. (lose)
- He _____ the race till the end. (run)

Answers

- went
- thought
- booked
- picked
- frightened
- ate
- felt
- grew
- lost
- ran

V. Past Continuous Tense

The past continuous tense is used:

- To describe an incomplete action that was interrupted by another event or action.
For example,
 - I was having a beautiful dream when the bell rang.
- To speak about a change of mind. For example,
 - I was going to spend the day at the mall but I've decided to get my homework done instead.
- with 'wonder', to make a very polite request.
For example,
 - I was wondering if you could cook for me tonight.
- To describe the background in a story written in the past tense. For example,
 - "The sun was shining and the birds were singing as the elephant came out of the jungle.
 - The other animals were relaxing in the shade of the trees, but the elephant moved very quickly.
 - When the riders came, she was running towards the river.
- To express an unfinished or incomplete action in the past. For example,
 - They were waiting for the train when the accident happened.
 - Rohini was skating when she broke her leg.
 - When we arrived he was having his food.
 - When the rain started I was watching television.
 - They were cooking when the rain started.

Forming The Past Continuous

The past continuous of any verb is composed of two parts : the past tense of the verb "to be" (was/were), and the base of the main verb + ing. For example,

- They were watch + ing.
- She was read + ing.

Subject	was/were	base + ing
They	were	watching
Affirmative
She	was	reading
Negative
She	wasn't	reading
Interrogative negative
Wasn't	she	reading?

Table 1.4
Past Continuous

Affirmative	Negative	Interrogative
I was playing	I was not playing	Was I Playing?
You were playing	You were not playing	Were you playing?
He was playing	He wasn't playing	Was he playing?
We were playing	We weren't playing	Were we playing?
They were playing	They weren't playing	Were they playing?

VI. The Past Perfect Tense

The past perfect tense is used:

- To refer to a time before now. It is used to make it clear that one event happened before another in the past. It does not matter which event is mentioned first as the tense makes it clear which one happened first.
Event A is the event that happened first and Event B is the second or more recent event in table 1.5 :

Table 1.5

Event A	Event B
Sunil had gone out	when I arrived in the office.
Event A	Event B
I had saved my document	before the computer crashed.
Event B	Event A
When they arrived	we had already started cooking.
Event B	Event A
He was very tired	because he hadn't slept well.

Forming The Past Perfect

The past perfect tense is composed of two parts: the past tense of the verb to have (had) + the past participle of the main verb.

Table 1.6

Subject	had	past participle
Affirmative
She	had	given
Negative
She	hadn't	asked.
Interrogative
Had	they	arrived?
Interrogative negative
Hadn't	you	finished?

Past Perfect + Just

'Just' is used with the past perfect to refer to an event that was only a short time earlier than before now. For example,

- The train had just left when I arrived at the station.
- She had just left the room when the police arrived.
- I had just put the washing out when it started to rain.

Exercise 5

Directions : Complete the sentences using the past perfect tense with the suitable forms of the verbs given in the brackets.

- Before we arrived at school the classes _____ (start) .
- I felt tired because I _____ (run) ten miles.
- He _____ (study) that book before it arrived in India.
- He _____ (sell) all the copies of the CD before we got there.
- We went to his house for lunch but to our great surprise he _____ (have) his lunch.
- When I got up, the sun _____ (rise).
- Before we got there, they _____ (begin) the show.
- He _____ (finish) his work before I began mine.
- It _____ (begin) to rain when I stepped out of the house.
- Soon after they _____ (complete) their homework they ran out to play with the dog.

Answers

1. had started 2. had run
3. had studied 4. had sold
5. had had 6. had risen
7. had begun 8. had finished
9. had begun 10. had completed

VII. Simple Future (Indefinite) Tense

The simple future refers to a time later than now, and expresses facts or certainty. In this case, there is no 'attitude'.

The simple future is used :

1. To predict a future event. For example, It will rain tomorrow.
2. To express a spontaneous decision. For example, I'll pay for the tickets by cash.
3. To express willingness. For example, I'll do the grocery shopping.
He'll carry your books for you.

4. In the negative form, to express unwillingness. For example, The boy won't eat his soup. I won't leave until I've seen the manager!
 5. With 'I' in the interrogative form using 'shall', to make an offer. For example, Shall 'I' open the door?
 6. With 'we' in the interrogative form using 'shall', to make a suggestion. For example, Shall we go to for the movie tonight?
 7. With 'I' in the interrogative form using "shall", to ask for advice or instructions. For example, What shall I tell the teacher about the homework?
 8. With you, to give orders. For example, You will do exactly as I say.
 9. With you in the interrogative form, to give an invitation. For example, Will you come to the mall with me? Will you stay with me?
- Note : In modern English 'will' is preferred to shall and shall is mainly used with I and we to make an offer or suggestion, or to ask for advice (see examples above).

Forming The Simple Future

The simple future tense has two parts: will / shall + the infinitive without to

Table 1.7

Subject	will	infinitive without to
Affirmative
I	will	go
I	shall	go
Negative
They	will not	see
They	won't	see
Interrogative
Will	she	ask?
Interrogative negative
Won't	they	try?

SOME CONTRACTIONS

- (a) I will – I'll
- (b) You will – you'll
- (c) She will – she'll
- (d) They will – they'll
- (e) Will not – won't
- (f) We will – we'll
- (g) He will – he'll

Simple Future TenseTable 1.8

- When _____ (do) our flight leave?
- He _____ (eat) sweets.
- I _____ (go) to school tomorrow.
- I _____ (help) my neighbours.
- They _____ (be) commended.

Answers

- will go
- shall call
- will be
- will meet
- will end
- will our
- will eat
- will go
- will help
- will be

VIII. Future Continuous Tense

The future continuous is used :

- To refer to an unfinished action or event that will be in progress at a time later than now. For example,
 - This time next week I will be boating in Chennai.
 - By Diwali I will be dancing like a professional.
 - Just think, next month you will be working in your new job.
- For predicting or guessing about future events. For example,
 - He'll be coming* to the meeting, I expect.
 - I think you'll be feeling thirsty after working in the sun.
 - You'll be missing* the sun once you're back in Shimla.
- In the interrogative form, the future continuous can be used to ask politely for information about the future. For example,

- Will you be bringing* your friend to the party tonight?
- Will Murali be coming* with us?
- Will she be going* to the dinner tonight?
- Will I be sleeping* in this room?

- To refer to continuous events that we expect to happen in the future. For example,
 - I'll be seeing* Raj at the conference next week.
 - When he is in Jaipur, he will be staying with friends.
 - I'll be eating* with Mani this evening, so I can tell her everything.
- In combination with still, to refer to events that are already happening now and that we expect to continue some time into the future. For example,
 - In an hour I'll still be washing my clothes.
 - Tomorrow he'll still be suffering from his pain.
 - Next year will she still be wearing the ring?
 - Won't prices still be falling* in the morning?
 - Sadly, sea levels will still be rising in 10 years.

Forming Future Continuous

The future continuous is made up of two elements : the simple future of the verb 'to be' + the present participle (base + ing)

Table 1.9

Subject	simple future of the verb 'to be'	present participle
You	will be	watching
I	will be	staying

Exercise 7

Answers

1. will be living
2. will be eating
3. will be running
4. will be studying
5. Will you be waiting
6. will be eating
7. Will she be visiting
8. will be watching
9. Will they be attending
10. will be working

IX. Future Perfect Tense

The future perfect tense refers to a completed action in the future. When we use this tense we are projecting ourselves forward into the future and looking back at an action that will be completed sometime later than now. For example,

- I will have been here for six months on June 23rd.
- By the time you read this I will have left.
- You will have finished your report by this time next week.
- Won't they have arrived by 5:00?
- Will you have eaten when I pick you up?

The future perfect is composed of two elements : the simple future of the verb "to have" (will have) + the past participle of the main verb

Table 1.10

Subject	+ will have	+ past participle of the main verb
He	will have	finished.
I	will have	finished.

Exercise 8

Directions : Combine the following pairs by changing them into the future perfect tense.

1. The children will eat all the nuts. (before their mother comes.)

Answers

1. will have eaten
2. will have destroyed
3. will have died
4. will have left
5. will have paid

X. Perfect Continuous: Present, Past And Future

The present perfect continuous is used to refer to an unspecified time between 'before now' and 'now'. The speaker is thinking about something that started but perhaps did not finish in that period of time. He/she is interested in the process as well as the result, and this process may still be going on, or may have just finished. For example,

1. Actions that started in the past and continue in the present

- She has been waiting for you all day (= and she's still waiting now).
- I've been working on this report since eight o'clock this morning (= and I still haven't finished it).
- They have been travelling since last October (= and they're not home yet).

2. Actions that have just finished. But we are interested in the results

- She has been cooking since last night (= and the food on the table looks delicious).
- It's been raining (= the streets are still wet).
- Someone's been eating my chips (= half of them have gone).

Forming The Present Perfect Continuous

The present perfect continuous is made up of two elements: the present perfect of the verb 'to be' (have/has been), and the present participle of the main verb (base + ing).

VERBS WITHOUT CONTINUOUS FORMS

With verbs not normally used in the continuous form, use the simple present perfect instead (verbs such as: know, hate, hear, understand, want).

- I've wanted to visit Chicago for years.
- She's known Sameer since she was a child.
- I've hated that song since I first heard it.
- I've heard a lot about him recently.
- We've understood everything.

Exercise 9

1. has been teaching
2. has been teaching
3. has been standing
4. has not been working
5. has been following
6. has been crying
7. has Ram been
8. you been watching
9. have been watching
10. have you been

XI. Future Perfect Continuous

Like the future perfect simple, this form is used to project ourselves forward in time and to look back. It refers to events or actions that are currently unfinished but will be finished at some future time. It is most often used with a time expression.

For example,

- I will have been waiting here for three hours by six o'clock.
- By 2020 I will have been living in Lucknow for sixteen years.
- When I finish this course, I will have been learning English for two years.
- Next year I will have been working here for three years.
- When I come at 8:00, will you have been practicing long?

The future perfect continuous is composed of two elements : the future perfect of the verb "to be" (will have been) + the present participle of the main verb (base + ing)

Table 1.11

Subject	+ will have been	+ present participle
He	will have been	playing.
I	will have been	playing.

Exercise 10

Directions : Put the verbs into the correct form (future perfect progressive).

5. will have been talking
6. will have been looking for
7. will have been playing
8. will have been watching
9. will not have been sleeping
10. Will they have been waiting

XII. Past Perfect Continuous

The past perfect continuous corresponds to the present perfect continuous, but with reference to a time earlier than 'before now'. As with the present perfect continuous, we are more interested in the process. For example,

- Had you been waiting long before the taxi arrived?
- We had been trying to open the door for five minutes when Siya found her key.
- It had been raining hard for several hours and the roads were very wet.
- Her friends had been thinking of calling her parents when she walked in.

Forming the Past Perfect Continuous

The past perfect continuous is composed of two elements : the past perfect of the verb to be (= had been) + the present participle (base + ing).

Exercise 11

4. had been exercising
5. had been speaking
6. you had been eating
7. had been living
8. had been going
9. had been waiting
10. had been driving

The active and passive forms of the verb are called the active voice and the passive voice.

I. Active Voice : When the subject of a verb is doing the action, the verb is active. Active verbs that are transitive have a subject that performs the action, and an object that is receiving the subject's action.

For example,

- Sonia drew this picture.
- The clouds covered the sun.
- Travellers crowd the stations during peak hour.
- A thief stole her mobile phone.

II. Passive Voice : When the subject is changed so that the object of the transitive verb becomes its subject, you say the verb is passive. The performer of the action or the original subject, sometimes appears in a passive sentence introduced by the preposition by, and sometimes by the prepositions in or with. For example,

- The picture was drawn by Sonia.
- The sun was covered by the clouds.
- The stations are crowded with travellers during peak hour.
- Her mobile phone was stolen by a thief.

THE VOICES AND THEIR FUNCTIONS

I. Functions of The Passive Voice

1. The passive voice is used to show interest in the person or object that experiences an action rather than the person or object that performs the action. In other words, the most important thing or person becomes the subject of the sentence. For example,

- The passive voice is used frequently.
(In this, we are interested in the passive voice, not in who uses it.)
- The house was built in 1974.
(In this, we are interested in the house, not in who built it.)
- The road is being repaired.
(In this, we are interested in the road, not in the people who are doing the repairs.)

2. Sometimes we use the passive voice because we don't know or do not want to express who performed the action. For example,

- I noticed that a window had been left open.
- Every year, thousands of people are killed on our roads.
- All the bananas have been eaten.
- My bicycle has been stolen!

3. The passive voice is often used in formal writing. But, using the active voice will make your writing clearer and easier to read.

For example,

- A lot of meaning is conveyed by well-chosen words. (Passive Voice)
Well-chosen words convey a lot of meaning. (Active Voice)
- The earth is surrounded by a mass of gases. (Passive Voice)
A mass of gases surrounds the earth. (Active Voice)
- Waste materials are disposed of in many ways. (Passive Voice)
The city disposes of waste materials in many ways. (Active Voice)

4. If we want to say who or what performs the action while using the passive voice, we use the preposition by. When we know who performed the action and are interested in him, it is always better to use the active voice.

For example,

- "Sare Jahan Se Achha....." was written by Iqbal. (Passive Voice)
Iqbal wrote "Sare Jahan Se Achha..." (Active Voice)
- The movie Gandhi was directed by Attenborough. (Passive Voice)
Attenborough directed the movie Gandhi. (Active voice)
- This house was built by my grandfather. (Passive Voice)
My grandfather built this house. (Active Voice)

5. Many sentences in the passive do not tell who does the action. This happens when someone in authority is responsible for the action, or when it is not important to say who is responsible. For example,

- Our school walls were painted last week.
 - Lunch is served between 12 : 30 and 3 : 00 pm.
 - The notice said that the trespassers will be prosecuted.
 - We were all given a number of tasks.
6. Verbs like only, usually or very often are only used in the passive. For example,
- Revati was born in 1992.
 - The school is situated in a pleasant part of the city.
 - Unluckily, the play house is located on a busy road.
 - The company was established in 2000.
 - Mumbai was founded as a key trading center in 1900.

II. MAKING PASSIVE SENTENCES

1. To make passive sentences in simple present tense, we use am, is or are + past participle. For example,
 - Veena conducts the morning assembly. (Active Voice)
The morning assembly is conducted by Veena. (Passive Voice)
 - Danny often borrows library books. (Active Voice)
Library books are often borrowed by Danny. (Passive Voice)
 - Ms. Singh teaches me the sitar. (Active Voice)
I'm taught the sitar by Ms. Singh. (Passive Voice)
2. To make passive sentences in simple past tense, we use was or were + past participle. For example,
 - The navy built this bridge. (Active Voice)
The bridge was built by the navy. (Passive Voice)
 - Sumi checked the balance. (Active Voice)
The balance was checked by Sumi. (Passive Voice)
3. To make passive sentences in the present continuous, we use am, is or are + being + past participle. For example,
 - Tarun is directing the drama in college. (Active Voice)
The drama in college is being directed by Tarun. (Passive Voice)
 - Pratap is training the boxers. (Active Voice)
The boxers are being trained by Pratap. (Passive Voice)
 - Vanita is teaching me Judo. (Active Voice)
I'm being taught Judo by Vanita. (Passive Voice)
4. To make passive sentences in past continuous, we use am, was or were + being + past participle. For example,
 - The cooks were preparing lunch. (Active Voice)
Lunch was being prepared by the cooks. (Passive Voice)
 - Chandan was training the swimmers. (Active Voice)
The swimmers were being trained by Chandan. (Passive Voice)
5. To make the passive sentences in the simple future, we use shall or will + be + past participle. For example,
 - His parents will miss him. (Active Voice)
He will be missed by his parents. (Passive Voice)
 - The Prime Minister will address us shortly. (Active Voice)
We shall be addressed shortly by the Prime Minister. (Passive Voice)
 - No-one will recognise you in that dress! (Active Voice)
You won't be recognised in that dress (Passive Voice)
6. To make the passive of the present perfect, we use have or has + been + past participle. For example,
 - Has pollution made the problem worse? (Active Voice)
Has the problem been made worse by pollution? (Passive Voice)
 - The storms have destroyed the trees in the park. (Active Voice)
The trees in the park have been destroyed by the storms. (Passive Voice)
7. To make the passive of the past perfect, we use had + been + past participle. For example,
 - The driver had attacked the lone cyclist. (Active Voice)
The lone cyclist had been attacked by the driver. (Passive Voice)
 - The surveillance camera had caught his actions. (Active Voice)
His actions had been caught by the surveillance camera. (Passive Voice)
8. To make the passive of the future perfect, we use will or shall + have + been + past participle. For example,
 - By this point tomorrow the flag will have been lowered.
9. To make the passive of the future continuous, we use will or shall + be + being + past participle. For example,
 - The World Cup victory will be being celebrated all over India this time.

List of Conversion of Active Voice into Passive Voice

III. Active Voice to Passive Voice (To Be Verb)

Students, sentences written in the active voice are easily understandable than sentences written in the passive voice. The passive voice of an active voice is formed by using the verb 'to be' wherein the active verb must be changed into the past participle.

The verb 'To be' has the following uses:

- As an auxiliary verb, it is used with other verbs both in active and passive voice.
- As a regular/ordinary verb, it is used in 'No verb' sentences.

Study the table below to understand the usage easily :

The forms of 'to be'	Tense	Verb in passive voice	No verb
Be	Infinitive, Modals, Future Indefinite		Noun Pronoun
Is, am, are, was, were	Present Indefinite Past Indefinite	Past participle of Transitive Verb	Adjective Adverb
Been	Perfect (Present, Past, Future)

| 3. (a) | 4. (b) |
| 5. (a) | 6. (b) |
| 7. (a) | 8. (b) |
| 9. (a) | 10. (d) |

I. There are two classifications of verbs:

- (a) Regular or Ordinary Verbs
- (b) Auxiliary or Helping Verbs

The helping or auxiliary verbs are of two types:

- (a) Auxiliary Verbs – be (am, is, was), have and do.
- (b) Modal Verbs – May, ought to, will, would, shall, should.

II. What are Modals?

Modal verbs are used before ordinary verbs and express meanings such as permission, possibility, certainty and necessity. Modal verbs cannot work alone. They work with a main verb. For example,

- May I help you?
- Can I have another egg please?
- Would you like to come with us?
- You must not walk on the grass.
- I can speak French.

III. The main modal verbs are:

- | | |
|-----------|-------------|
| 1. Will | 2. Would |
| 3. Should | 4. Ought to |
| 5. Could | 6. May |
| 7. Can | 8. Shall |
| 9. Must | 10. Might |
| 11. Need | 12. Used to |

IV. Modals are used to express :

- | | |
|-----------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. Intention | 2. Possibility |
| 3. Request | 4. Promise |
| 5. Duty or obligation | 6. Prohibition |
| 7. Ability | 8. Suggestion or advice |
| 9. Wish or Prayer | 10. Necessity or Compulsion |

Students, Modal verbs are auxiliaries, or helping verbs. They are used in combination with another verb (in infinitive form) as a way to modify its meaning. Modals convey the meaning of the main verb in a number of ways :

1. Possibility or ability, by can or could.

- I can do this task.
- Could you please hold my books?

2. Possibility or permission by may or might

- I may finish my preparation by tomorrow night.

- We may go together, if you wish.

- It might be useful to have a short nap before leaving.

3. Obligation, or moral obligation, by must, ought to, or should.

- Students must reach the examination center on time.
- You ought to start exercising.
- You should never touch live wires.

Note : must can also specify probability.

- You must be tired!
- He must play cricket very well.

4. The modal verb would is used to express the conditional.

- If she had time, she would buy some stationery.

5. The modal verb will expresses the future :

- The bus will reach your destination in a few hours.

V. Modals and their Usage :

Students, let's look deeper at the usage of the modals.

1. Will is used to convey certainty, especially things you are certain about or things that are planned. For example.,

- I will pay my college fees.
- I will go to the hospital tomorrow.
- I will complete my English preparation today.

The modal verb will indicates that the action is definitely going to take place.

a. Would is used as the past form of will when reporting what somebody has said or thought. For example,

- He said he would be here by 7 o'clock .

b. Would is also used for talking about the result of an event that you think of. For example,

- It would be terrible to miss the ending of the movie.

c. Would is used for describing a possible action or event that did not in fact happen, because something else did not happen first. For example.,

- If I had heard the news on time I would have known that it's a holiday today.
 - d. Would is used to ask somebody politely to do something. For example,
 - Would you open the door for mother, please?
 - e. Would is used in polite offers or invitations. For example,
 - Would you like a samosa?
- 2. Should and Ought to
- The modal verbs 'should' or 'ought to' point to a requirement to carry out an action, but it is yet to be completed. For example,
- I should pay my fees, but I didn't get the time.
- The difference between the two modal verbs is that 'ought to' implies slightly less of an obligation than 'should'.
- I ought to go to the bank, but I still have some time.
- 3. Could indicates the ability to complete an action. For example,
- I could pay my fees. I have chosen not to.
- a. Could is used to talk about what someone was generally able to do in the past, For example :
- Sunita could run very fast when she was ten years old.
- b. Could is also used with verbs of seeing, noticing, understanding. For example,
- I could see there was someone at the door.
- 4. May : This is a modal verb which has two functions.
- a. It indicates the permission to do something. For example,
- You may come inside.
- b. The verb can also be used to show the possibility that something will happen in the present or the future. For example,
- Take an umbrella with you, it may rain.
(future possibility)
 - They may enter the house.
(future possibility)
 - You may not agree with my opinion right now. (present possibility)
 - Many people may be unaware of the dangers lurking around them.
(present possibility)
- a. Can shows the ability or the capacity to undertake an action. For example,
- All the school boys and girls can run very fast.
- b. Can is also used to express permission. For example,
- Can I leave now?
- 5. Shall, shows that something will happen. However, a condition is often implied. Often the connective 'when' is used to connect clauses if 'shall' is the form of the verb used. For example,
- I shall pay my fees as soon as my funds clear.
- 6. Must, says that something will definitely be done, or happen. It is stronger than will, meaning that the action to take place is extremely important. For example.,
- I must buy the ticket or I won't be allowed inside the cinema hall.
- 7. Might implies the possibility of something. When 'might' is used, it means something could happen, or may be it will not. For example,
- I might go home tonight.
 - It might rain today.
- 8. Used to : is used to say that something happened continuously or frequently in the past. For example,
- I used to live in Srinagar.
 - We used to go swimming in the lake.
 - You used to eat a lot of sweets.
- 9. Dare means to have the courage to do something and can behave either as a modal verb or as a main verb.
- a. As a modal verb, dare is used in negative and interrogative sentences; it is followed by a bare infinitive, For example,
- I daren't think how many wounded there are.
 - How dare he criticise me?
- b. As an auxiliary verb, it is mainly used in the negative and the interrogative forms with direct infinitive. For example,
- Do you dare (to) tell him what happened to his dog?
 - Who dares (to) argue with mother?
 - They didn't dare (to) look at the principal.
 - No one would have dared (to) think about it.
- 10. Need and Need Not : Need can be used either as a modal verb or as a main verb. For example,
- She need not worry about anything.
 - No one need be surprised at the result.
 - Parents need only just ask.
- a. Need, as a modal verb, can also be used in interrogative sentences. For example,

- Need you make a lot of noise?
- b. Need, as a main verb, is followed by a to-infinitive and expresses that something is necessary. It can be used in affirmative, negative and interrogative sentences. For example,
 - I need to talk to you about something.
 - I don't need to be told that I should start studying.
 - Do you need to use the shampoo?
 - If you want good results, you will need to work harder.
- (iii) The past tense of the main verb need to is needed to. For example,
 - I needed to have my breakfast.
 - Why did they need to change the rooms?

Note : Need as a modal does not have a past tense form.

Exercise 1

Directions : Fill in with the correct modal verb.

1. I _____ go to the mall with you on Sunday, but I am visiting my parents and am not sure if I will.
2. When we play our game, we _____ care for the environment and not harm any plants.

9. When you exit the country, you _____ have your passport.
10. When we go to the party at Rahul's house, we _____ take gift.

Answers

1. Could – there is a chance of going to the mall, but it is not certain. Also acceptable is 'might'.
2. Should – protecting the environment is something that is a definite responsibility. Also just suitable is 'ought to'.
3. Will – here, the plan is that the homework is completed. Also suitable is 'can'.
4. Shall – this is the best answer because the condition for going to the cinema hall is the purchase of tickets. However, 'can' is also suitable.

5. Can – The person is here so the gift can be given. Also suitable is 'shall'.
6. Would – the event happened in the past, and the money was conditional on leaving the house.
7. Might – the chance is equal. 'Could' is acceptable, although the implication is that it probably will not escape.
8. May – permission is politely given. 'Can' can also be used, although this is a less polite way of giving permission.
9. Must – the only answer because it is an absolute condition.
10. Ought to – it is something that should happen, but does not entirely have to happen. Also suitable are 'should' and 'could'.
